

Heritage Arts Pavilion

at Oakley Farm in Freehold Township, New Jersey.

Historically inspired Arts Pavilion

comes to Oakley Farm in Freehold

The Freehold Township Heritage Society is proud to announce the installation of an Arts Pavilion at the Oakley Farm Museum site in Freehold Township NJ. The Pavilion was constructed to increase the visibility of the Oakley Farm Museum historic site and provide an outdoor performance venue for the community.

The fun will begin this Summer with a diverse series of programming. Historical programs, entertainment based performances and educational programs will be featured. The Pavilion programming committee is open to partnerships with local artists and arts organization.

The Pavilion is a great place to showcase your talent and creativity. Contact us and let's make great art together.
